The X1F Group acquires accantec group

Munich, Jul 17, 2025

The X1F Group has acquired the accantec group as part of their growth strategy.

The accantec group has been operating for over 20 years as a specialized consulting firm and IT service provider for business intelligence, data science, and enterprise software solutions, with a particular focus on SAP, Microsoft, Jedox, SAS, and IBM.

Headquartered in Hamburg and with offices in Frankfurt am Main, Cologne, Heidelberg, and Berlin, the accantec group employs over 70 BI experts who are active in demanding BI and data science projects. Their range of services includes architecture design, advanced analytics, and data warehousing, as well as the development of cloud platforms on AWS, Google Cloud, and Azure, alongside comprehensive managed services - especially for clients from regulated sectors such as banking and insurance, as well as pharmaceuticals and healthcare.

Through the acquisition, X1F strategically expands its service portfolio in a strategically relevant growth area.

The X1F Group combines specialized IT and consulting units under one roof to comprehensively support companies in digital transformation - from strategy to technical implementation, with a clear focus on quality, innovation, and sustainability.

As an exclusive M&A advisor, Sancovia initiated the transaction and provided comprehensive support to the X1F Group throughout the entire process.
